

SHIRAZI – LIVE

(TEAMrecords / Manual Music)

In the late 80's national radio's "Soul Show" drew Shirazi's (real name Amir Maani Shirazi) attention to electronic music. From the start of the house virus (early 90's) in the Netherlands he was fascinated by the music played by Dutch DJ Dimitri.

In the mid 90s, he started producing his own music, which led to the release of 2 co-productions under the name "Fluid Illusion" on independent label Precious Records. A few years later all productions came to a standstill, but his love for electronic music never disappeared.

In 2005 Shirazi restarted his production activities. After finishing the first series of tracks his enthusiasm grew during the Amsterdam Dance Event 2006, where Dave Clarke got his hands on a demo and played the track "Morning Drive" on his radio show White Noise.

In 2007 Shirazi participated in Holland's biggest contest for bands/producers called "Grote Prijs van Nederland". He reached the final of the dance/producer category and won the audience prize with his live performance.

In the meantime TEAMrecords included Shirazi in its producers collective.

His first series of tracks received positive feedback from international DJ's and producers such as Vince Watson, Dave Clarke and Marshall Jefferson.
